

Certified Risk Specialist - Environmental, Social, Governance

Enabling Risk Leaders to Champion ESG-Integrated Decision Making

What Is CRS-ESG

A globally recognized certification program that equips professionals with the competencies to integrate Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) into every layer of Enterprise Risk Management (ERM). Built on ISO 31000, SDGs, and double materiality, this certification offers a strategic edge in today's sustainability-driven economy.

The CRS-ESG certification equips professionals to identify and respond to ESG-related risks through structured assessment, strategic alignment, and double materiality principles. With a focus on real-world application and ethical stewardship, CRS-ESG prepares you to lead risk decisions that are sustainable, transparent, and value-driven.

Redefine risk leadership—where responsibility meets resilience.

Who Should Be Certified

This certification is designed for mid- to senior-level professionals who are responsible for steering risk decisions that affect both business performance and societal impact.

It is especially relevant for those in roles such as risk managers, sustainability leads, compliance officers, internal auditors, ESG strategists, and corporate governance advisors—individuals who serve as the bridge between operational execution and strategic oversight.

Minimum Requirement

At least 3 years of relevant experience in risk management, ESG, sustainability, governance, compliance, or strategic planning

Assessment Method:

- 140 multiple-choice questions
- 3 essay questions on the case study
- Passing grade 70%
